Commissioner Martinez presented a brief overview of the Commissions' progress and shared facts related to foster youth in the California public school system. Commissioner Martinez also reported on new legislation specifically related to foster youth that will aid in eliminating obstacles in foster youth obtaining a High School diploma.

Norma Sturgis, Los Angeles Unified School District, Foster Care Unit, presented an overview of the Foster Care Program and the Neglected, Delinquent or At Risk Youth Program at LAUSD. Ms. Sturgis presented recommendations, referenced the importance of education and responded to questions posed by the Commission.

Youth representatives Marcos Nunez and Rosa Pina of Centro Community Hispanic Association, Inc. (Centro CHA), Jesse Aguiar of New Roads and Briana Lam of South Central Youth Empowered through Action, shared their experiences as former foster youth with the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS). They expressed the need for more social workers and that social workers be allowed sufficient time to build relationships with the children they are assigned to oversee, in addition to providing the life skills necessary to succeed.

Representatives Valentina Alvarez, Re-entry Counselor, Sandra Hamada, Director of Youth Programs for the Community Coalition, Jessica Quintana, Executive Director of Centro CHA and Alex Stewart, Youth Organizer of the Community Coalition introduced themselves and Chair Sanders asked that they submit recommendations in writing.

Steven R. Venz, Principal, Quincy Jones Elementary School, addressed the Commission and presented an overview of the school's successful operations. Mr. Venz presented recommendations for DCFS that would improve communication with schools and shared a recent incident he experienced with DCFS. Mr. Venz also responded to questions posed by the Commission.

John Keane, Foster Youth Services Coordinator, Los Angeles County Office of Education, presented an overview of Foster Youth Services and recommendations regarding their academic needs. Mr. Keane stressed the importance of enforcing existing DCFS policies and practices and using appropriate forms to enroll children in school and to obtain vital records. Mr. Keane also responded to questions posed by the Commission.

Molly Dunn, Policy Attorney and Jill Rowland, Director of Education, Alliance for Children's Rights Advocates, presented an overview of California's new school funding and accountability system and asked the Commission to support the Model LCAP (Local Control Accountability Plan). Ms. Rowland and Ms. Dunn responded to questions posed by the Commission.

Antonia Jimenez, Deputy Chief Executive Officer for the Children and Families' Well-Being Cluster of the Chief Executive Office (CEO), presented an overview of the CEO's Service Integration Branch and responded to questions posed by the Commission.

Members of the public, Lori Martin, Patrick O'Rourke, James Rutkowski, Rodica Moody, Denise Paz and Teresija Sigmund, addressed the Commission.
